Job title	Pension Web Developer

Job purpose

The purpose of this role is to design, develop and maintain its web-based solutions for companies who offer defined benefit pension plans to their employees. The developer will collaborate with business decision makers and other developers to solve business needs using the best practice technology and tools. Candidate must be a self-motivated, professional individual with the ability to perform all roles within the system development lifecycle.

Duties and Responsibilities

- Develop web-based solutions related to pension plans and based on the needs of each client
- Support and enhance existing pension portals through defect resolution, requirements fulfillment and ongoing maintenance
- Work with users to understand business needs and develop business and technical requirements
- Identify support issues and initiate action to resolve problem
- Provide feedback to management and clients on status, problems and solution
- May be required to support non-pension related development projects
- Investigate technology solutions outside of the normal development environment as needed

Additional Requirements

- Complete projects with minimal supervision
- Work well under pressure and within time constraints to effectively accomplish individual and team objectives
- Work with multiple client teams and competing projects

Qualifications

- Bachelor's Degree in Computer Science or related field
- 2-4 years of equivalent work experience
- Strong verbal and written communication skills
- Technical Support experience
- Experienced in Transact SQL, Visual Basic, SQL Server and ASP. Net
- Advanced computer skills, including Microsoft Office Suite
- Strong math skills and/or knowledge of actuarial fundamentals preferred